

Senate Battle Over Foreign Aid Bill Seen

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long siege appeared ahead today for the $3,817,365,000 foreign aid bill after weathering its first Senate battle enlivened with angry sniping.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen shook his head at the prospects. He envisioned senators "in their red flannel pajamas" sitting with their grandchildren in front of the tree Christmas Day and muttering to themselves: "We didn't finish foreign aid."

"It looks like we're in for a long siege," he said. The Senate inched ahead Friday by rejecting, 46 to 29, a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the foreign aid measure back to the Foreign Relations Committee for major surgery.

"The fight has just started," Morse, a leader of the foreign aid revolt, said afterward.

Dirksen, however, called Friday's vote a "pretty good test." He told newsmen the final bill "will be reasonably close" to the compromise amendment he and Mansfield offered Thursday when they proposed a $385-million reduction in the $4.2-billion bill reported by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Dirksen ridiculed Morse's suggestion that something might be accomplished by a second look by a committee which had the bill since the middle of June and held 18 markup sessions.

Morse's motion would have instructed the committee to report the bill back no later than Nov. 8, Dirksen noted, but then the Senate still would have to deal with a batch of amendments Morse has proposed.

More than 50 proposed amendments await action.

There was one break in leadership ranks. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader, told the Senate Friday night he would fight the proposed compromise cut from $550 million to $255 million in funds for the Alliance for Progress program in Latin America.

Humphrey was not in on a huddle at which Mansfield, Dirksen and ranking Republican and Democratic members of the Foreign Relations Committee worked out the compromise in an effort to head off heavier cuts.

Co-op Sees Battle for 'Our Lives'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Representatives of rural electric co-operatives from Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana were told Thursday "we are in a fight for our lives."

The warning came from Albert C. Hauffe, president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, in a speech before the annual Region VIII convention.

He said there is an "intensive, all-out drive under way to get rid of co-ops."

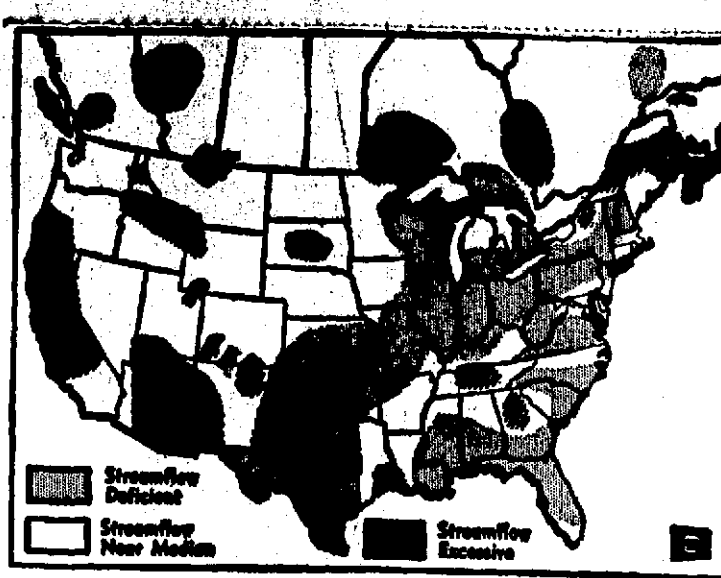

"The power companies are throwing huge amounts of money and manpower into this effort," he said. "There is every indication that it will increase in the coming months."

"In this battle," he added, "there is no substitute for victory, and no room for halfway measures. To lose is to turn our backs on 28 years of progress in rural areas. All of our work would simply go down the drain."

Another speaker, Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., told the meeting that "not all the false opinions about the Rural Electrification Administration, rural electrification and your co-operatives are being invented by power companies and anti-REA members of Congress."

Weather

Fair and cool today and tonight.

NATION'S WATER PICTURE—One of the most beautiful and dry falls in many years is causing concern in one area—the nation's water supply. Many parklands are closed to minimize fire hazards. ## Elsa Maxwell Dies Friday In New York

By ROBERT HOLTON

Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Elsa Maxwell, the hostess to royalty whose humble beginning made hers the most unlikely modern-day climb to the top of the international social ladder, died Friday night at the age of 80.

Miss Maxwell succumbed to a heart ailment in New York Hospital only a few days after she was taken there a semi-invalid.

Her death was noted by the millions from all walks of life who knew and loved her, and by her legions of critics who over the years of her reign as the world's greatest party-giver felt victim to her tart tongue.

Almost to the end Miss Maxwell lived her life to the hilt, having made her last public appearance at the April in Paris Ball in a Manhattan hotel only last week.

She was brought to the ball in a wheelchair.

She wrote of her friends in the glistening social world in a gossip newspaper column for the New York Journal-American.

Thus has ended a life dedicated for many years to overcoming what Miss Maxwell found at the age of 12 to be the snobbish restrictions of high society.

She once was told that her family was too poor to warrant her being invited to a party in California.

"I made up my mind I would give great parties all over the world," she later recalled—and she did.

Soon after she completed her climb to the top rung of the social ladder, Miss Maxwell's attitude seemed to change from one of dedication to success to one of enjoyment of her rich surroundings.

"Do good and have fun," was the way she once summed up her life.

In her lifetime, Miss Maxwell hobnobbed with history-makers such as Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini, Winston Churchill, Charles de Gaulle, and thousands of great but lesser figures of world prominence.

She has no known relatives.

The daughter of an insurance man, Miss Maxwell was born in Keokuk, Iowa, and moved with her family to San Francisco, where she grew up.

She never was graduated from high school but underwent additional education from her father who had an aversion to schools. She served as a pianist in a nightclub, a vaudeville accompanist, partner in a Paris night club, consultant to a dressmaker and a nationally known lecturer.

Her first party for royalty was given in 1921 with Princess Helena Victoria, a daughter of Queen Victoria of Great Britain, as her honored guest.

She admitted that her many friends high in the social world provided her with lavish estates and handsome limousines to abet her party-giving.

Her regular income came from her daily newspaper column and royalties from her books.

U.S. to Take Some Troops Out of Japan

By CONRAD FINK

Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO (AP)—The United States is considering withdrawal of some military personnel from Japan as part of the Kennedy administration's drive to reduce dollar spending abroad.

An informed U.S. source said talks are being held with Japanese defense officials on ways to reduce American military costs and also to streamline units to fit Washington's plans for a strategy based on mobile strike forces.

However, the issue has become entangled in Japan's impending general election, and the source said no quick decision is expected on whether the number of U.S. servicemen in Japan—now about 46,000—will be reduced drastically.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's Liberal-Democratic party, hoping to head off Socialist campaign sources of subservience to the United States, is quietly spreading word that a reduction is being negotiated.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman would say only that comment on possible reductions would be "premature at this time."

President Kennedy at his news conference Thursday said about 1,000 men might be withdrawn from South Vietnam.

James Williams, 28, hobbled to the witness chair on crutches, his left leg in a cast. He told the court that state patrolmen broke his leg in an unprovoked attack the night of Aug. 9. He said he was beaten by state and city officers and spent 18 days in a hospital.

The suits seek of free John Perdue, of Denver, a Harvard student; Ralph W. Aen, 22, of Melrose, Mass., a student on leave from Trinity College at Hartford, Conn.; Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis, former student at the University of Minnesota; and Donald Harris, 24, of New York, a Negro graduate of Rutgers University—all charged with trying to incite insurrection—and Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus, who had $12,000 bail on lesser charges.

Harris and McDaniel both are Negroes.

Father May Try to See Mrs. Nhu

BOSTON (AP)—Former Ambassador Tran Van Chuong of Viet Nam said today that if the reports that his son-in-law, Ngo Dinh Nhu, has been killed in Saigon are true he will try to see his daughter in Los Angeles.

The former ambassador's daughter is Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, First Lady to the bachelor president of Viet Nam, Ngo Dinh Diem.

Mrs. Nhu has been on a speaking tour in the United States.

Several times since her arrival in this country Mrs. Nhu has attempted to see her father. He has steadfastly refused to see her. However, today Chuong said: "If the news is true that there has been a tragic event I would see my daughter."

Chuong resigned last August as Vietnamese ambassador to the United States in protest over his government's policy toward Buddhists.

The former ambassador is a Buddhist. Mrs. Nhu is a Roman Catholic convert.

Education Is Industrial Key

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An industrialist from Forrest City told the state Chamber of Commerce Wednesday that Arkansas will not attract and hold "higher type" industry until the caliber of education in the state is raised.

Edward A. Toomey of Forrest City, president of Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co., told the chamber's 35th annual convention:

"If Arkansas is to attract those industries which require skilled and technical personnel which, coincidentally, are the industries that have the higher pay scale, it will have to create a pool of technically trained individuals."

He said Arkansas should have two universities instead of one and also needs vocational training programs on electronics and mechanical drawing.

Judge Will Continue to Hold Youth

By DON MCKEE

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—A juvenile court judge testified before a federal panel that he will continue to hold a 14-year-old Negro girl in jail without bail until a hearing is set on charges against her.

Judge James W. Smith spoke Thursday as a hearing opened on efforts to enjoin officials from interfering with desegregation activities in this south-west Georgia city.

The girl, Sallie Mae Durham, is among six young integration leaders jailed nearly three months ago during the demonstrations. More than 200 Negroes were arrested.

A three-judge federal court is hearing testimony in suits aimed at freeing the prisoners, including four out of state youths charged with attempting to incite insurrection. The offense carries the death penalty.

In the first day, 11 witnesses went to the stand as attorneys for the integration leaders sought to prove a conspiracy by state, county and city officials to deprive the prisoners and other citizens of constitutional rights.

Miss Durham and others testified that policemen and state patrolmen had beaten Negroes.

James Williams, 28, hobbled to the witness chair on crutches, his left leg in a cast. He told the court that state patrolmen broke his leg in an unprovoked attack the night of Aug. 9. He said he was beaten by state and city officers and spent 18 days in a hospital.

The suits seek of free John Perdue, of Denver, a Harvard student; Ralph W. Aen, 22, of Melrose, Mass., a student on leave from Trinity College at Hartford, Conn.; Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis, former student at the University of Minnesota; and Donald Harris, 24, of New York, a Negro graduate of Rutgers University—all charged with trying to incite insurrection—and Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus, who had $12,000 bail on lesser charges.

Harris and McDaniel both are Negroes.

Castro Brags of Power for Revolutions

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro taunted the United States Thursday night with being able to overthrow Latin American "bourgeois" governments at will while being unable to topple him.

The United States by lifting only one finger of its hand can overthrow any bourgeois government in Latin America such as were overthrown—Fronzidi, Ydigoras and Arosemena," Castro said, referring to deposed Presidents Arturo Frondizi of Argentina, Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala and Carlos Arosemena of Ecuador.

"But the United States has moved all its hands, feet, body and head against his Cuban proletarian regime without any results," Castro asserted.

Castro addressed a mass rally beside the National Palace to mark the proclamation of a new law confiscating all packages—except medicines—mailed from the United States and decrees ordering price hikes on meat, poultry, cigars and beer.

The prime minister asked the crowd whether they approved the increases. They shouted back their approval.

Five Leaders Will Continue Rights Fight

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—Five integration leaders plan to continue working for civil rights now that they are free on bond under an unprecedented federal court order which struck down two Georgia laws.

The five spent nearly three months in jail in this south Georgia farming center before they were released Friday. They said they were not mistreated.

John Perdue, 21, a white Harvard University student from Denver, Colo., reported demonstrations will be resumed in Americus "if they're necessary."

Others told of intentions to continue work in the Negro voter registration movement and in attempting to organize a Negro farmers cooperative.

The three white men and two Negroes were freed in a 2-1 order by a three-judge panel. The court retained jurisdiction and recessed until after Dec. 1.

The ruling voided a 19th century insurrection law—which carried a maximum penalty of death—and an unlawful assembly statute.

If upheld, the order would set a precedent for civil rights demonstrators to go directly to federal court with complaints of excessive bond.

Another significant facet of the order was injunctive restraint against the prosecution of peace warrants, a legal weapon which—as come into play recently in fighting integration efforts.

Released on bond of $2,500 in addition to Perdue were: Donald Harris, 23, of New York; Ralph W. Allen, 22, of Melrose, Mass.; and Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus. Bond of $500 was signed for Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis.

Released on $500 bond each were three American Negroes, Sallie Mae Durham, 14, and Artie and Marvin Brown. The girl had been denied bail by juvenile court authorities. The two men had been in jail since August, charged with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and failing to obey officers.

The five leading integration workers—Perdue, Harris, Allen, McDaniel and Aelony—were jailed at the height of street demonstrations which resulted in more than 200 arrests as Negroes sought to break segregation barriers.

Judgment Against Publisher

MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP)—Conway County Judge Tom Scott was awarded a $200,000 libel judgment Thursday against the publisher of the weekly Morrillton Democrat, Gene Wirges.

The award was made by a Circuit Court jury after Scott contended he had been libeled by remarks printed in the "Birdtown Birdie" political column of the newspaper. Wirges said the remarks referred to Sheriff Marlin Hawkins, not Scott.

Scott got $100,000 actual damages and $100,000 punitive damages.

Circuit Judge Wiley Bean issued an order for Wirges to appear in court at 10 a.m. Saturday to show why he should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to say who wrote the column in question.

Wirges testified that he did not write the column but refused in depositions and again in court to say who did write it. He said he had criticized Scott in print but that none of the articles had accused Scott of any illegal activity.

Last week Conway County Clerk C. C. Brewer was awarded $75,000 by another jury in another libel suit against Wirges.

Wirges has been printing criticism of the county government.

Gould School Gutted by Fire

GOULD, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed the Gould Elementary School early today and Supt. Raymond Sage said its replacement value was $87,300. No one was injured.

Sage said there was a Halloween party at the school Thursday night, but the janitor had checked the building before leaving. Sage said officials did not know how the fire began.

Newly Organized Community Theater Is Working Hard to Make First Show a Success

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Star Feature Writer

Hope is one of eight towns in Arkansas in the Arkansas Community Theater Association. Only a few months old, the Hope Community Theater Inc. is composed of about 30 members and is open to anyone interested in any phase of theater work.

Officers in the local organization are: president, Bill Routon; vice-president, Martin Pool, Jr.; secretary, Barbara Daniels; treasurer, Roy Hammons; business manager, George Peck, Jr.; board of directors, the officers and George Frazier, Ken Daniels, Al Graves, Bonnie Routon, Paul O'Neal, and Lloyd Guerin. George Frazier is serving as president of the board.

Meetings are held on the fourth Monday of each month and vary in location from members' homes to the City Hall auditorium, where play rehearsals are held. The first production of the Hope Community Theater, Inc. will be presented in the Hope High School auditorium on Thursday and Friday, November 14 and 15 at 8 p.m. Don't worry about the Friday night football game that week. The Bobcats have an open date on November 15.

"Dear Charles" is the play to be presented on those two nights, and it will be directed by Kay Leimbacher. Martin Pool, Jr. will be technical director, and Mrs. B. B. McPherson is the advisor for the group. The play is a comedy by the contemporary author Alan Melville, adapted from "Les Enfants d'Edouard" by Marc-Gilbert Sauvajon and Frederick Jackson. It has not appeared on Broadway as yet, but the first production of it was in London on December 18, 1952.

Our local Community Theater is working hard to make its first performance a success. If you are wondering about the cast, this is it: Martha, Mary Ann Avery; Edward, Paul O'Neal; Walter, David Pearson; Bruno, Al Weisenberger; Denise, Darvel, Elaine Petre; Martine, Patty Manus; Sir Michael Anstruther, Ken Daniels; Jan Letzarsco, George Peck, Jr.; Dominique Lecler, Lloyd Guerin; Madame Duchemin, Jackie Guerin. Two children who appear briefly in the play, Lucienne and Jean-Pierre, have not been cast.

The stage manager, Julia Evans, is doing a capable job, as are all the committees which include: publicity, Elaine Petre; Troy Hammons, Barbara and Ken Daniels; Lamour McElroy; tickets and finance, George Peck, Jr.; Bonnie Routon; Norma Jean Delaney; lights, George Peck, Jr.; costumes and make-up, Julia Evans, Martin Pool, Jr., Dory Moers, Jackie Guerin, Alvin Easterling; props and scenery, Lloyd Guerin, Mary Roy-Moses, Joe Keesey, Paul O'Neal, Troy Hammons; sound, Bob Moers; house committee, Gladwin Connell.

Hints received regarding the story-line of the play indicate it will be enjoyed by one and all. Make your plans now to see this first production by local talent in the Community Theater on November 14-15 beginning at 8 p.m. in the Hope High School auditorium.

Cites Need for New Tax Structure

By ALVIN SCHAY

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Modernization of the American tax structure was pinpointed Thursday night by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz as the one thing which can do the most for this country's unemployment problems.

Wirtz told the 12th annual meeting of the Arkansas Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security that persons in employment security work realize this.

The tax bill which has passed the House but not the Senate would start a chain of events from increasing consumer purchasing power to more investment in industry to more jobs, he said.

"There are plenty of unmet consumer needs," he said.

Also at the IAPES meeting were Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, who addressed the Arkansas Federal Tax Institute today in Little Rock; Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas; Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Robert C. Goodwin, administrator of the Bureau of Employment Security.

Wirtz emphasized the importance of education and technical training for youth in the face of increasing automation.

He said "automation mixed with ignorance is a lethal device," but said proper training for youth could make it a servant of humans.

Wirtz said about one-fourth of American males are failing seventh grade-level tests for Army service and said nothing is being done to train them. He said most of these persons will make up the hard core of unemployed in America.

Russia to Comply But Protests

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union is complying under protest with a U.S. demand that it recall three members of its U.N. delegation, accused of taking part in a spy plot.

The Russian trio was scheduled to leave New York by plane tonight en route to Moscow. A note from the U.S. delegation Wednesday had demanded their immediate departure.

In a reply Thursday night to the U.S. note, the Soviet delegation denied that the three men had taken part in an espionage conspiracy and protested that they had been arrested illegally in an "organized police provocation."

Diem Regime Is Out; Suicide Is Reported

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, reportedly committed suicide today after attempting to flee rebellious South Vietnamese military forces that ousted them.

Diem and Nhu, head of the secret police, swallowed poison en route to jail in an armored car, said a diplomatic source in Bangkok, Thailand.

South Viet Nam's ambassador to Thailand, Cao Thai Bao, said he had heard Saigon radio reporting the suicides but had no confirmation of the deaths. Similar reports reached Washington.

The deaths—if true—appeared to end the last resistance in a bloody 18-hour uprising followed by the installation of a principally Buddhist government of military and civilian leaders.

There were only fragmentary details on the deaths of Diem and Nhu. Only the Vietnamese press was said to have been permitted to photograph the bodies.

A Saigon Radio broadcast said the brothers were taken into custody after a white flag was hoisted over the battle-scarred presidential palace. But they fled their captors and sought sanctuary in a church.

They were recaptured—it was not disclosed how or where—and committed suicide, the broadcast said.

The downfall of the autocratic ruling family followed a day-and-night siege of the presidential palace. A 90-minute dawn tank and artillery attack preceded Diem's capitulation after eight years of rule.

The leader of the coup was Gen. Duong Van Minh, 47, a Buddhist. A civilian and former vice president, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, was named provisional president. As the ranking Buddhist in the Roman Catholic Diem government, he was a leader in the campaign to conciliate South Viet Nam's angered Buddhist majority.

It was Diem's treatment of the Buddhists, capped by the government's August raids on pagodas and ensuing arrests, that marked the country's final disenchantment with him and his family.

One of the first acts of the new government was to release political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns imprisoned under Diem and Nhu.

In Washington, U.S. officials reacted cautiously to the overthrow of the Diem government, with which the United States has had a running argument in recent months because of the Buddhist crisis.

A State Department spokesman said: "Continued on Page Four"

Pizza Gains Fast on the Hamburger

By TOM SEPPY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Say Mom, you know that Junior's favorite dish is a hamburger, but did you know pizza is gaining fast?

And how about you Dad—did you know that your daughter doesn't go for any creamed foods?

School children also say "Ugh" to liver, or for that matter, any iron and protein-rich food, no matter how you serve it.

That's the opinion of several experts who ought to know—superintendents of school lunch programs who are attending the 17th annual convention of the American School Food Service Association.

What will children eat? First choice: hamburgers, followed by hot dogs, peanut butter, fried chicken, flavored gelatins, oatmeal cookies, oversized sandwiches and "anything in a roll," they said.

These foods appear to cut across the regional tastes and economic backgrounds and are eaten with equal gusto by children from high-income and low-income brackets alike.

Among the major dislikes: casseroles; meats that need to be cut with a knife; salads with mayonnaise; mixed vegetables, no matter what they are; asparagus, broccoli, cauliflower, and you guessed it, spinach.

What's the most popular new dish being served in the schools these days? Pizza, all agreed.

Council Has a Decisive Conference

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council arrived at the halfway mark of its second session today after the most decisive week of the year-old assembly.

In swift actions within the space of only three days, the 2,200 patriarchs, cardinals, archbishops and other prelates:

Showed in a test vote that more than 96 per cent favor a concept of all bishops sharing with the Pope in authority over the entire Church;

Decided that theology on the Virgin Mary belongs more properly within a document on the Church's nature rather than standing apart as a separate Marian document;

Virtually completed action on a seven-chapter document that will bring vast changes in all of Roman Catholic worship, from the Mass and the sacraments to sacred music and art forms.

No one was pretending that the council is all down-hill coasting from here on out. Many bishops still were dissatisfied with the pace of council deliberations and anxious to increase efficiency without curtailing free expression in the council debate in St. Peter's Basilica.

Julius Cardinal Doepfner of Munich, who presided at Thursday's session warned: "We certainly must move faster."

Liturgical experts said there is a good chance that a few amendments still to be voted in the public worship schema could be finished within two weeks, leaving the liturgy document ready for formal ratification and promulgation as a finished decree in a public session by Pope Paul VI and the 2,200 prelates before the recess.

The council meets again Tuesday after Italy's four-day holiday weekend.

Documentary Occasionally Amusing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Network television has tended for a long time to divide itself into two unequal parts. There are the entertainment shows which are designed to amuse. There are the public affairs shows — the actualities, the documentaries, the in-depth studies—designed to enlighten.

Occasionally entertainment shows do enlighten, but rarely does an actuality show attempt to amuse.

But Tuesday night one did. CBS "Chronicle," took an hour to follow leisurely a young couple, factory workers in northern England, through their annual week's vacation in Blackpool, a resort on the chilly Irish sea where the sun shines about half the time.

There was no real need to study a young couple with a $70-a-week income or to explore Blackpool, a shabby Victorian town full of pubs, snack bars, music halls and turn-of-the-century boarding houses.

But it was not Blackpool that made the program. It would have been interesting even if we had followed a young couple to Atlantic City, Miami, or Las Vegas. It was the closeup of the people that counted, and the care and affection that was poured into the portrait.

Jackie Gleason, in spite of an arm in a cast, expects to keep right on working. The comedy star fractured a small bone in his wrist during the taping of his show Tuesday night. The bit, satirizing "torture tests" in a TV commercial, had him riding a bicycle through a brick wall. He fell with his arm twisted in back of him.

Although in pain, Jackie managed to finish the show—except for his usual good-nights.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, like most authors of new books, soon will be plugging his memoirs on television. CBS has him for a "Face the Nation" session Nov. 10, and on "Issues and Answers" the following Sunday.

DeGaulle Is Suspicious of America

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President de Gaulle, almost 73 now, said once: "Old age is a shipwreck." But, if the waters of time are lapping at his decks, he is still on the bridge, still a captain and very much a critic.

The Kennedy administration's duel with him, compared with De Gaulle's ominous and blunt suspicions about American defense of Europe, has an almost delicate elegance in its pointed but restrained thrusts.

Repeatedly the administration has criticized him without naming him, as if still trying to be neighborly with the man next door who keeps honking his horn all night and building fires on the sidewalk.

De Gaulle, dreaming of a resurrected France since his father talked to him about it in childhood, must be realist enough to know France lacks the resources to be a No. 1 power again, like the United States and Russia.

But reality beclouds a dream. And De Gaulle, perhaps out of frustration and injured pride, persists in making France sound bigger than it is if only by the tactics of obstruction and hostility.

He had blocked Britain from joining the Common Market and endangers the Western Alliance by suggesting Europe cannot depend indefinitely on the United States, its pledged ally, to stand beside it in time of danger.

Nevertheless, the Kennedy administration tip-toes around him. Not so Sen. J. W. Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat who doesn't have to deal directly with the Frenchman.

This week in the Senate Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, slammed head-on into De Gaulle.

De Gaulle recently boasted that France not only isn't borrowing from others, "particularly Americans," but is paying off its debts to them an "even on occasion is granting them certain facilities."

Fulbright reminded him dryly that France still hasn't paid the United States almost $6.5 billion it has owed since World War I. Back of Fulbright's attack was De Gaulle's news conference slurs last July 29.

But back of that were similar episodes. De Gaulle inflicted a brutal embarrassment on President Kennedy last Jan. 14 by holding a news conference—and this was hardly an accident—a few hours before Kennedy sent a highly optimistic message to Congress about this country's relations with its allies and the alliance itself.

"How fares the Grand Alliance?" Kennedy asked. Then he answered himself: "Free Europe is entering into a new phase of its long and brilliant history."

But before Kennedy could get the words out De Gaulle, at his Paris meeting with the press, slammed the Common Market door in Britain's face, rejected this country's proposal for a multinational nuclear force among the NATO allies, and said France opposed a Common Market "under American leadership and domination."

On April 19 De Gaulle, shooting another poisoned arrow, said France could not be sure of the intentions of its allies, much less of its enemies.

To offset the kind of suspicions De Gaulle was trying to arouse about the United States, Kennedy at Frankfurt, West Germany, on June 25 pledged to risk the destruction of American cities to preserve European freedom.

Two days later, June 27, France's information minister, after newsmen were told he would give De Gaulle's reaction to Kennedy, warned Europe against trusting its security indefinitely to the United States.

By this reasoning, of course, how could the other allies ever trust any promises De Gaulle made for France once De Gaulle was no longer president?

But while doing all this talking De Gaulle still had not assigned to the NATO Alliance all the divisions France had promised it years ago. For that matter, no other country but the United States has kept its NATO promise.

De Gaulle had another news conference July 29 and took another dig at this country by suggesting that in time of danger from Russia the United States might not imperil itself by standing beside its allies.

The De Gaulle belittling technique was getting stronger. On Oct. 27 Secretary of State Dean Rusk also went to Frankfurt and reassured the allies of American loyalty. And almost timidly, it was so oblique, he told them they were not putting in NATO all the divisions they had promised.

This could be interpreted as a slap at De Gaulle. Rusk didn't say it was. But Fulbright was direct. He said "for too long

Sheer joy at the exciting presence of a fire engine on the street inspired this fire-plug leap frog, perhaps.

Crops Good But Drought Now Prevails

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The fall drought and protracted heat spell across much of the nation were as much one man's meat as they were another's poison.

In the areas where forest fires laid waste thousands of acres of timber-dry timberland there was agreement that the loss was high. But agreement ended there in a poll taken by The Associated Press.

Some states and communities reported the unseasonably warm and dry spell ruined crops, stunted winter wardrobe sales, cut tourist travel to a low and chopped damagingly into hunting equipment sales.

Yet, the poll showed that the same unseasonable circumstances in other states and communities resulted in bumper crops, swelled sales in summer clothing, boosted fall travel to a high and delighted the sporting goods store operators with increased sales.

Except for a few instances, estimates of losses and gains were tentative and in round figures at best. In most cases was said the losses and gains could not be determined for weeks or months to come.

For some unexplained reason, travel agents in some sections said, the protracted heat wave sent record numbers of tourists scrambling for winter cruise reservations.

Because of the drought and accompanying hot weather, some states canceled their hunting seasons to keep sportsmen out of the parched woodlands and fields.

This brought a cutback in the sale of guns and ammunition and in fees collected for hunting and fishing licenses.

In other areas, the hot weather drove thousands into the woodland and recreation areas where no restrictions were placed against their use.

The same lack of rain that stunted and shriveled up some crops, was a blessing for others that thrived beyond the highest expectations of farmers.

Alabama state officials set timber losses there at more than $500,000 with an over-all loss in economy due to the drought and hot weather of more than $3.5 million. But record yields were reported in cotton, corn and some other crops due to the heat.

Pennsylvania officials reported heavy forest fires and crop losses but declined any estimate. Losses were noted in hunting license revenues and gun and ammunition sales when the season was suspended. Travel business was off 40 per cent.

A New York state agriculture department spokesman said crop loss through drought and early frost amounted to about $3 million with a "wild guess" of $100,000 in timber losses due to fires.

In Colorado, the State Agriculture Department estimated a $50-million crop loss for the entire 1963 season, much of it attributed to the heat and drought.

Ann Kenyon: Surgeon

By Adeline McElfresh

[Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. © 1960 Adeline McElfresh]

THE STORY: Dr. Ann Kenyon disagrees with a surgeon, Dr. Emerson Lyle, on the proper setting of her leg, which was broken in a train wreck.

VI

Brill's flowers, a dozen red roses again, filled the sunporch with their fragrance. As she had done with all the other flowers, Ann had had the nurse's aide place them where the other women could enjoy them too—as, by now, probably the entire hospital could, for there must be bouquets everywhere. The whole hospital was reveling in the talk, she knew—half the town would be by this time, she told herself, and for heaven's sake, no wonder! A dozen red roses a day for over a week. Even though he easily could afford them, Brill should know better.

Of course Brill did know better. He was just being Brill, that was all. Whatever she felt now for Brill Crayden, it was neither the wildly surging passion that sometimes had thundered in her pulses, nor the cool dispassionate disavowal of all love for him.

Her long slender fingers covered her eyes; her cheeks burned against her palms at the thought. That was the trouble with being a doctor, she thought. A doctor was diagnostic even with her own heart.

"Hurtin' again, Doctor?" the tiny, wrinkled old woman in the next bed inquired sympathetically.

Although she wasn't, not in this rare moment, Ann nodded without opening her eyes.

"There's nothing like a knittin' bone to plague a body. That is how my arthritis started."

And now she was twisted and gnarled and in almost constant pain that even the whirlpool baths and heat therapy for which she had come to the hospital a month ago did little to lessen. Ann couldn't ignore the pang of apprehension that leaped through her. Don't let yourself think about it, she was warning herself when one of the other patients said, "Good morning, Doctor."

Dr. Davis Clyde, whose patient Mrs. Enderle was, said good morning and added, "This place doesn't smell like a hospital any more."

Ann opened her eyes; she liked Dr. Clyde, had liked him from the moment in the pain fog when she'd first seen him with Cass Llewellyn, with rolled-up pajama sleeves that attested to the emergency that had summoned him from his bed. "What's the matter? Don't you like roses?"

"The question should be, I think," as he came around between her bed and old Mrs. Enderle's, "do you like them—that well?"

Warmth that a while ago had burned Ann's face and throat touched her again. Dr. Clyde turned, twinkling, she was uncomfortably sure, to ask his patient, "Knees any better this morning, Miss Sallie?"

Ann lay listening. In the week she had been here she probably had heard as much of Mrs. Enderle's medical history as Dr. Clyde had.

Mrs. Enderle described her night's discomforts in great detail and Dr. Clyde listened as if it were all new and enlightening, no wonder Mrs. Enderle adored him and trusted him implicitly—not to banish her pain, which she knew could never be but to do his best to ease it.

A week ago Ledbie Memorial Hospital had been a name and nothing more. Now, though, the hospital's character was beginning to emerge from the anonymity that always surrounds a strange place; she was beginning to learn things about Ledbie Memorial, about the town of Ledbie and Helen Ledbie, whose forebears had founded the town and for three generations had run it their way, apparently without any complaints serious enough to have survived the years; and about Dr. Emerson Lyle who had married Monica Ledbie too soon after her husband John, the last of the male Ledbies, died. That had been 20 years ago, and Ann gathered from the ward gossip that her questions about the hospital always touched off, the hospital had been in trouble ever since.

Monica Lyle hadn't drawn a breath without first asking her new husband if it was all right, and when he said Ledbie Memorial was adequate for the community's needs that meant not even a new surgery clamp. It hadn't been that bad, of course; gossip always exaggerates.

Conscious of a stir of anger, Ann let her eyes consult the cords and weights and pulleys over her bed. It was none of her affair that Monica Lyle had let her second husband rob the hospital that had become, in effect, as much a monument to her first husband as it was to all the rest of the earlier Ledbies.

Encourages Use of Art of Today

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted today to encourage the use of modern art forms in Roman Catholic Church construction and decoration.

But the document approved by the council warned against "some abstractions (in painting and sculpture) that are externally incomprehensible to Christian people and alien to their religious feeling."

The document, final chapter in the council's schema on public worship, also cautioned against excessive costliness in church construction and excessive decoration with statues and images.

Council fathers voted 1,338 to 9 to approve the chapter, which deals with sacred art and furnishings. Another 94 fathers approved, but with reservations.

With today's vote in St. Peter's Basilica, the council fathers all but completed work on the public worship, or liturgy, schema. They still must vote on several amendments as a result of reservations expressed in votes earlier this month. But it appears likely they and Pope Paul VI will be able to promulgate the schema, with its wide reforms in Catholic worship, at a plenary session before the council recesses Dec. 4.

This would make the liturgy schema the council's first decree, and would give the green light for national bishops' conferences to carry out the reforms.

Among these are the use of modern languages, in place of Latin, in the Mass and in the sacraments, such as baptism and marriage.

Ambulance Hits Man Who Hit Kid

DENVER (AP) — A hit-and-run driver whose rented car fatally injured a 6-year-old boy was struck by the ambulance taking the child to a hospital Wednesday.

The woman, who had jumped in front of the ambulance waving her arms, was critically injured.

Preston H. Smith, walking home from school, was struck, as he crossed a street in a marked walkway on a green light, Detective Jack Sevier said.

The car that hit him was driven from the scene. Moments later, the ambulance taking the child to a hospital struck Mrs. Marie Chapel, 33.

At a hospital Mrs. Chapel told traffic investigators Al Prehly and Duane Miller that she drove the car in the accident. Miller said he would seek a manslaughter charge against her.

Pay Some Rent He Didn't Owe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Let's drink a toast to Charles Murray, 72, a pensioner, never owed the rent in the first place. But a few weeks back he walked into the Recreation and Parks Department and plunked down a $100 check as payment for when he slept in Elysian Park 15 years ago.

The department will put up a $100 drinking fountain in Elysian Park.

SLOW EXIT—These sleek Formula 1 cars burned up the road in the Grand Prix of the United States, but they are making a slow exit from Watkins Glen, N.Y., by tractor trailer. The only world championship competition in the United States was won by Graham Hill of England, who averaged 109.91 miles per hour over the 110-lap, 253-mile course.

DOROTHY DIX

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I've been putting off writing you in the hopes that things would work out. Well, they haven't. My problem is the problem of so many teen-age girls—my mother. To her, we're a half-baked, gangling lot of kids—something to put up with.

I shall be 17 this coming month and I have yet to date. It isn't that I lack for bids, but just that mother doesn't think there is a boy good enough for her daughter. She acts as though ours was the first family in this little hick town—high-hats everybody. Because of her I've lost many friends.

She's upstage to those whose families don't rank with ours in her opinion. There's an intelligent, nice-looking, well-mannered boy who likes me and I like him but my mother thinks him trash just because he has a brother, older than he, who drinks. If one apple in the barrel is rotten, does this hold that all will be?

I'm seriously considering signing up as a WAAC or WAVE. Do you think this is wise?—Mixed up Tenn-ager

Dear Teen-ager: The gap between the teens and their parents is a far greater gap than the difference between other generations. You shouldn't feel that people's estimate of you is influenced by your mother. Even if it is true, there is only one person who can correct that error and this is you. Start by analyzing snobbery—your chief complaint against her. When we understand the underlying reason for an attitude we become more tolerant of it.

Snobbery, paradoxically, stems from basic insecurity. Fundamentally your mother may be compensating for some deeply buried deficiency by outwardly pretending to be superior.

Instead of joining the WAACS or WAVES, demonstrate that you're '76 half-baked by staying home and completing your education. To meet today's problems you'll need a high school diploma. For your

French's voice has been a voice of negation and dissent within the Western community."

Missile Launched Successfully

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force has announced the 19th successful training launch of a Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile down the Pacific missile range from this West Coast base.

A Strategic Air Command crew from Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont., fired the operational missile, the Air Force said Thursday.

Bobcats Whip Camden 20 - 6 For 4-AA District Championship

Eighth Straight Win For Hope With One Loss And 3 To Go

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer
Hope fell sole heir to the District 4AA crown last night by whipping the Camden Panthers 20-6 in the last conference game of the season. This was the eighth victory in a row for the Bobcats.

The high point of the game was a pass interception and 20-yard runback by 235-pound tackle Jimmy "The Juice" Walker for the go-ahead Bobcat tally. Jim was singled out for his defensive work by Coach Ben Burton, as was FB Richard McDowell on offense. Coach Burton remarked that "it's thrilling to win, no doubt, in a fine District like this, but we have three more games. We mustn't allow ourselves to ease up."

The game started off with a mild scare when, after two Bobcat plays from scrimmage, a fumble found its way to the willing hands of Panther Jeff Evans on Hope's own 42. Camden penetrated to the Bobcat 9, but the Bobcat defense firmly held ground, and the drive died on there for lack of a first down. The Quarter passed with the teams in a scoreless deadlock.

The Cats saw scoring action late in the period, with "The Juice" taking the ball from the grasp of the startled receiver, and making his big TD gallop. Buddy Jordan kicked the point after, and Hope was out front 7-0 when the teams went to the locker rooms.

With three minutes of the Third Quarter gone, Mac McLarty took a Panther punt on his own 14, and playing key block to the best advantage, broke loose with another touchdown trip that raised the Cat lead to 14-0, after the PAT by Jordan.

The Panthers started to growl, though, when McKinnon intercepted a Hope pass and raced all the way to the Bobcat 6, where he was caught from behind and brought back to earth. But it was to no avail, because two plays later fullback Robert King cracked and middle of the Hope line for the score. Extra point failed, though, and Hope still had a commanding 14-6 advantage.

Another third quarter drive took the Cats down to the Camden 20, but there someone applied grease to the ball while Hope wasn't looking, because on the next play the ball literally shot straight up into the air, where a Camden player snatched it. So the Quarter passed with Hope in the lead, 14-6.

The only fruitful Bobcat drive came in the opening minutes of the last period, when the Cats marched 69 yards behind the powerful up-the-middle running of McDowell. He carried 11 times on the drive, and had the honor of carrying across from the 1 to put Hope in a 20-6 position, where they remained for the rest of the game.

Individual rushing: McDowell, 15-64; Burnett, 5-20; McLarty, 5-19; Wassell, 2-14; Moses, 2-8; Waller, 1-5; Samuels, 1-2; and Jordan, 2-(24).

man said the United States was in no way involved in Diem's ouster. Military officials, however, said they believe the revolutionary committee of generals has the popular support for an intensified war effort against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

At the height of the battle, little news of the revolt filtered from the city.

The coup began at noon Friday, with an attack on the presidential palace, a stucco building in downtown Saigon. The rebels encountered stiff resistance from Diem's loyal palace guards and his crack 2,000-man detachment of special forces.

As the battle grew more fierce, it became apparent Diem's time was limited.

The rebels halted the attack for three hours, during which they offered Diem and his brother a pledge of safe conduct if they surrendered. They refused, and again the insurgents opened their attack.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States expects the new government in South Viet Nam to heal the rift with the country's Buddhist majority and speedily resume the war against the Communist guerrillas.

Officials here believe the revolutionary committee of generals which ousted the Diem regime has the widespread popular support necessary for success of the U.S.-backed war effort.

They contend the removal of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, stemmed from a conclusion by the Vietnamese army leadership that the Viet Cong could not be defeated under the Roman Catholic-oriented Diem government.

It was noted here that political prisoners, students and Buddhist monks and nuns, imprisoned under Diem and Nhu, were quickly released by the military leaders. This is expected to go far in massing public support for the military regime.

Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a former vice president who was named provisional prime minister, had been leading a campaign to conciliate the Buddhists. He was the ranking Buddhist in the Diem government.

The military group is expected to announce the participation of other civilians who are not only anti-Communist but pro-Western in their thinking.

U.S. officials maintain Washington had no advance warning of the takeover and that the United States had no hand in it. There was no surprise, however, when the siege of the presidential palace began.

There had been persistent rumors for weeks that a coup would be attempted. But the news of it came dramatically housing have created a steadily increasing pressure which has erupted in recent months into occasional picket-line violence, teen-age slash-and-run attacks, and, just last week, rioting over the shooting of a Negro shoplifting suspect by a white policeman.

Bankrupt Firms Creditors Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Referee in Bankruptcy Arnold M. Adams scheduled meetings of creditors of firms at Stamps and Blytheville.

Creditors of the bankrupt Hester Mobile Homes of Blytheville was set for Nov. 20 at Jonesboro.

The company was declared bankrupt May 2 in U.S. District Court and its assets liquidated for $36,391.45.

Unsecured creditors of Hester Mobile Homes will be paid about 26 per cent of their claims, Adams said.

At 3 a.m. Kennedy was awakened to receive the first reports of the fighting in Saigon.

Soon automobiles carrying advisers began arriving at the White House and State Department.

By 9:30 a.m., Kennedy was in his office. From his chief military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers, he received a full report on the situation, and orders went out for U.S. military forces in the Pacific to head toward Viet Nam "should it be necessary to protect American lives."

This morning the U.S. aircraft carrier Hancock left Hong Kong, apparently heading toward South Viet Nam.

The United States had demonstrated its displeasure with the Diem regime. Relations between Washington and Saigon became increasingly strained during September and October as the United States sought to pressure Diem into easing his repressive policies against the Buddhists.

Last month special pay to those of Nhu's elite paratroop corps who had been trained for fighting guerrillas but were used in raids on Buddhist pagodas, was suspended. U.S. economic aid amounting to about $10 million a month was cut off.

The downfall of the Diem government opens the way for a resumption of this assistance.

He also set next Wednesday in U.S. District Court at Little Rock for a final meeting of creditors of the Atex Manufacturing Co. of Stamps, which was declared bankrupt March 19.

A group of Stamps businessmen bought the furniture-making firm at a bankruptcy auction and are operating it under the same name.

Sale of the plant and other assets brought almost $110,000, Adams said, leaving $106,888. He said about one third of this will be paid.

KEEP THE CROSS BEFORE YOU

Whether of wood, or gold, or other material, The Cross is symbolic of our highest living. It tells of both sacrifice and life at its best. It is a symbol of God, a symbol of Christ, a symbol of the Christian church you attend every week. What would the church be without The Cross! Where might your steps lead were you to forget the Crucifixion! What might happen to your family and to the families of all your friends were it not for the influence of the illumined Cross in their lives. If you would have tomorrow remember you; if you would have your golden years filled with peace and hope... then Keep The Cross Before You Every Day.
